CHANGING SITES: FOR A FLEXIBLE, FAST AND SAFE CONSTRUCTION

MPS Pro Modular Protection Screen

Smart. Safe. Adaptable.

MPS Pro is the flexible solution for your high-rise construction needs. Designed with you in mind, it simplifies your job with foldable screens that enable a safe and efficient transportation of large units.

The screens come in two types: as single rail system, which is easy to transport and store with adjustable folding platforms, and as framework system, designed for heavier loads and more flexibility. The folding panels with integrated hinges allow for pre-assembly and easy transportation of large units on standard trucks. Alternatively, the units can be assembled on-site using only standard panels, providing flexibility for various installation needs.

The system's smart, modular design keeps things simple, using just a small number of panels, and gives you the ability to switch between perforated and solid options right on-site with exchangeable fillers. The folding platforms can be adjusted to different floor heights and folded for transport, while the platform brackets work the best with telescopic beams or girders of the PERI Portfolio and come with fixed plywood decking.

Assembly is quick and hassle-free for you, with pin connections that eliminate the need for bolts, and pre-assembled transportation that optimises your workflow. With features like hinged or telescopic adapters, integrated folding platforms, and options for ventilation or insulation, you'll have everything you need to meet the diverse demands of your project. This system offers the perfect balance of efficiency, safety, and brand visibility, helping you succeed while promoting your business. With customisable screens, you can display your company's advertisement, enhancing your brand presence on-site and increasing exposure to a wider audience.

MPS Pro provides you with enhanced efficiency, reducing time and labor across all stages of use, especially during transportation and installation.

You can also use the screens of MPS Pro as an advertisement area on top of the building of your high-rise project.

With fully sealed platforms that can adapt to the changing geometry of the building, MPS Pro offers you a high level of safety. Additionally, you receive unobstructed walkways for operations, free of diagonal interruptions.

- Small number of different panels for simplicity
